

www.LA3.com.au

SPECIES	Pyrostegia ignea
COMMON NAME	Flame Vine
ORIGIN	South America
DESIGN USE	For growing over a pergola or a sturdy fence

HEIGHT

Upto 85 feet tall and attach themselves to their host by tendrils

SPREAD

Attach themselves to their host by tendrils

HABIT

Evergreen, fast-growing and semi-deciduous tendril climber.

FORM

Spreading, climbing shrub

FLOWERS

Large masses of orange to red tubular flowers form a brilliant display.

FLOWERING PERIOD

October or on Winter

FRUIT

Pod, 10 to 12 inches long

CLIMATIC TOLERANCES

The blossoms often freeze in the colder part of its range, below 30° F (-1° C).

HORTICULTURE

Fertile, well-drained soils in sunny places are preferred. It is propagated by cutting, layering, or seeds.

REFERENCES

http://cms.jcu.edu.au/discovernature/plantscommon/JCUDEV_006024

http://toptropicals.com/catalog/uid/PYROSTEGIA_VENUSTA.htm

<http://www.eplants.com.au/DisplayProduct.asp?ID=4245>

<http://www.desert-tropicals.com>

www.LA3.com.au